University Appointments

BORUS

Joseph Borus, Chicago, regional representative of the bureau of employment security, will serve as a lecturer during the fall semester in the University division of social welfare administration.

Borus is a graduate of Washington university, St. Louis, where he also received the master of science degree. He formerly was employed by the United States bureau of labor statistics and the social security board. He has taught at Washington university, the University of Chicago, and the University of Illinois.

WILCOCK

Richard C. Wilcock, acting head of the department of economics, Heidelberg college, has been named a research assistant in the University institute of labor and industrial relations.

Wilcock received the bachelor and master of business administration degrees from Harvard university. He was senior analyst of procedures with Chance Vought Aircraft, Stratford, Conn., before entering the navy on special assignment status in 1944.

KRUIDENIER

Francis J. Kruidenier, Ann Arbor, Mich., has been appointed to the position of instructor in the University department of zoology.

Kruidenier has been a teaching fellow at the University of Michigan while completing requirements there for the doctor of philosophy degree. He received the bachelor of science degree at Michigan in 1936 and the master of science degree there in 1938.

In addition to graduate teaching, he has carried on extensive research and has served as a demonstrator in the University of Michigan medical school.

SULZER

Elmer G. Sulzer, head of the department of radio arts in the University of Kentucky, will serve as production director of station WILL the coming year, Josef F. Wright, station director has announced. He will be working toward a master's degree during the year.

Sulzer originally went to Kentucky as director of bands when he graduated from Indiana university in the same class with Mark Hindsley. He served in that capacity for seven years, then assumed the public relations directorship for the institution. In the latter capacity he developed radio activities and became nationally famous for his work in establishing the Kentucky listening posts which paid particular attention to taking educational material by radio to the remote mountain populations.

When Kentucky established a radio arts department he was named its director. The department operates the Kentucky radio station and also supplies regular daily programs to WHAS at Louisville and to other commercial stations of the area.

MISS COSMAS

Appointment of Maria J. Cosmas, Chicago, as Latin instructor at University high school was announced yesterday. She succeeds Joseph Zupsich, who resigned here to accept a position in the high school at Beloit, Wis.

The new appointee received the bachelor of philosophy degree from the University of Chicago in 1945 and the bachelor of arts degree from the University a year ago. She was employed formerly in the University of Chicago classics library and taught last year in the Town school for girls, Chicago.

MISS TALLMADGE

Ellenor Tallmadge who last year served in the publicity organization of Smith college, will be associated with the department of public information this year dividing her time in publication matters with the college of commerce, the college of education and the school of music.

Miss Tallmadge was in the department of publicity of Carnegie Tech for several years following her graduation from that institution.

NOORDHOFF

Lyman J. Noordhoff, Beloit, Wis., has been named assistant extension editor in the University college of agriculture.

Noordhoff is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and completed requirements there for the master of arts degree this summer. He was on the staff of the University radio station, WHA, prior to army service of nearly three years. For the past two years he has been employed in the agricultural information office at the University of California at Berkeley.

MISS ZARDOYA

Miss Conception Zardoya, Madrid, Spain, will come to the University this week as a visiting instructor in Spanish.

She is a graduate of the University of Madrid, has done advanced work in the field of modern languages, and is the author of more than 20 published articles.

COCHRUN

Irvin A. Cochrun, 711 West Clark street, Champaign, a partner in the C. L. Cochrun and Son auto agency, will serve as a part-time lecturer in the University department of business organization and operation during the fall semester.

A graduate of the University in 1933, Cochrun was employed as an accounting supervisor for the state of Illinois and as a salesman for the Burroughs Adding Machine company before joining the Cochrun and Son firm in 1940.

His six years of military service included two at the University, where he taught military science and tactics. Later assignments were with the student command and general staff school, as a consultant for the school for special services, and in the office of the chief of staff, war department general staff. He held the rank of lieutenant colonel.

MARIEN

Albert Emmett Marien, member of the St. Louis University faculty, has been named an instructor in marketing in the University department of business organization and operation, college of commerce.

Marien attended Washington university, received the bachelor of science degree in commerce and law at the University, the master of science degree from the University of Denver, and has taken additional graduate work at the University of Chicago and St. Louis university. He holds a certificate from the institute on advertising of the Advertising club of St. Louis.

He was formerly head of the department of business administration at Berry college, Mt. Berry, Ga.

HOGUE

Arthur R. Hogue, professor of history at Hanover college and a visiting lecturer at the University this summer, has accepted a position as assistant professor in the University history department.

A graduate of Oberlin college, Hogue received the master of arts and the doctor of philosophy degrees from Harvard university. He formerly taught at Oberlin and at Radcliffe college.

MRS. SCHOUR

Mrs. Esther Schour, Chicago, has been named visiting assistant professor in the University division of social welfare administration.

Mrs. Schour is a graduate of the University of Chicago and Kent college of law and received the master of science degree from the Smith college school for social work.

An administrative assistant for the Jewish family and community service, she has lectured extensively before state and local welfare organization and has contributed a number of major articles to professional publications.

GOVINDACHARI

T. R. Govindachari, Madras, India, has been named a full-time research assistant in the University department of chemistry.

Holder of the bachelor and master of science degrees and the doctor of philosophy degrees from the University of Madras, Govindachari came to the University in the fall of 1948 for special research under the direction of Roger Adams, head of the chemistry department. He is the author or co-author of some 22 professional reports and articles.

MRS. BOLDUC

Mrs. Barbara Bolduc, who has been an assistant in the University of Chicago nursery school for the past two years, will teach this year in the University nursery school, division of special services for war veterans.

A graduate of Kalamazoo college, Mrs. Bolduc is completing work on the master of arts degree at the University of Chicago. She and her husband, a University student, will live at 211 Vine street, Champaign.

THE UNIVERSITY BULLETIN BOARD

Telephone University extension 2370 or bring notice to Illini office, 725 South Wright St., Champaign, before 5 p.m.

Hygiene proficiency examination for men and women will be at 8:45 a. m. Tuesday in the Audi-